INTRODUCTION

The Woodward’s department store was an important part of Vancouver’s history. The store closed its doors in 1993, due to a combination of predictable circumstances, leaving a huge hole in the heart of the Downtown Eastside. In 2003, the City obtained the land from the provincial government and after hosting a two-stage competition, the City elected Westbank and Henriquez Partners Architects for the redevelopment of the site.

When the City of Vancouver hosted the request for proposals for the redevelopment of the site, they released “Guiding Principles” that the proposals submitted for redevelopment had to incorporate. One of them is for the Woodward’s development to not be a “Black Box”, in other words, the development should encourage the flow of public in the space.

The 400 million dollar, nearly one million square foot project, includes 536 market housing units, 125 singles non-market housing units to be operated by PHS Community Services, 75 family non-market housing units to be operated by Affordable Housing Society, Nesters Market, London Drugs, TD Canada Trust, the National Film Board of Canada and civic offices, a daycare, public atrium and plaza, and a new 130,000 square foot addition to Simon Fraser University’s downtown campus, the SFU School for Contemporary Art (Wikipedia).

The public spaces in the atrium measure to a total area of 3250 square meters, representing one third of the total area. The atrium lies in the heart of the development and invites a wide variety of programming to take place within the space. The space is meant to be customizable to accommodate a variety of events: the seating and piano are movable, the lighting can be modified and the basketball hoop can be fully removed. This creates the opportunity for a variety of exciting events to take place.

This competition focuses on creativity and innovation. We ask you to propose an idea that will enable more programming of exciting and diverse events to take place in the atrium, given the restrictions of the space.

WOODWARD’S ATRIUM DETAILS

Woodward’s Atrium:
The atrium is 5000 square feet, with dimensions of 73’ x 35’ and public access through South, East and West doors.

Woodward’s Plaza:
The plaza is 7500 square feet, with public access through North and West entrances. The atrium and plaza connect through Southwest doors.
OBJECTIVES OF COMPETITION

Woodward’s is proposing an exciting opportunity for creatives and intellects to come up with a temporary installation that is innovative, exciting and feasible. The temporary installation is to be moveable, with the option to move in and out of the atrium and outdoor plaza. The goal of this competition is to build a temporary installation in the atrium that can enable the following events to take place:

A. Art Exhibits
B. Pop-Up Bar/Food
C. Retailer Pop-ups
D. Startup Events (ex. product launches)
E. Fashion-Shows
F. Installations
G. Concert/Game Screenings
H. Discussions
I. Private Events

The temporary installation must take the following factors into consideration:

A. Security: The temporary installation must maintain standard security measures in order to provide a place for sensitive material to be stored temporarily and deter inappropriate use by bystanders.

B. Business Activity: The temporary installation must minimize any disruption of the business activities of the two retailers on site; London Drugs and Nesters Market.

C. Privacy: The temporary installation must enable privacy to the attendees, if that is the requirement of the event.
